Re: Tara Taylor

Dear Mr. Murphy:

I have completed an analysis of the pecuniary loss to Mrs. Tara Taylor which resulted from the transfer of her Fluor Corporation job from Afghanistan to the United States. The total computed present value loss, based on assumptions that Fluor's current LOGCAP project contract has been extended to June of 2021<sup>1</sup> and that the trial date is February 18, 2020, is $1,531,527. Exhibit 1 enclosed includes values for the individual elements of damage. Additional exhibits show detailed computations.

Case Facts

My analysis is based on the following case facts.

1. Mrs. Taylor's transfer to the states was effective October 1, 2014.<sup>2</sup>
2. Her hourly rate of pay at that time was $41.15.<sup>3</sup>
3. Her hourly rate of pay increased to $42.48 on approximately February 8, 2015,<sup>4</sup> to $44.23 on approximately April 1, 2015,<sup>5</sup> and to $48.03 on approximately February 1, 2017.<sup>6</sup> She received no raises through the end of 2018.<sup>7</sup> Beginning January 1, 2019 she began working for Midnight Sun Technologies, LLC at an annual salary of $130,000. That salary remains the same in 2020.<sup>8</sup>

4. While working in Afghanistan she was compensated for 84 hours weekly at her existing hourly rate (no overtime premium).<sup>9</sup>
5. While in Afghanistan she was also compensated at a “salary uplift” for the first 40 hours of each week. The salary uplift was 80% through February 3, 2016,<sup>10</sup> 55% through January 11, 2019, and 45% thereafter.<sup>11</sup>
6. Mrs. Taylor would have been eligible for four “home leave/R&R” periods yearly through 2016 and three such leaves per year thereafter.<sup>12</sup> During these leave periods she would have been compensated at her base rate for only 40 hours weekly and with no salary uplift.<sup>13</sup>
7. While working in Afghanistan, she received a retention allowance in June and another in December. The allowance in December 2014 would have been $3,750. Each subsequent allowance would have increased by $500 until the maximum of $7,250 every six months was reached.<sup>14</sup> Effective July 1, 2018, however, the retention allowance was changed to a flat $2,500 every six months.<sup>15</sup>
8. Mrs. Taylor incurred no costs for rent and utilities while working in Afghanistan. Meals were provided at no cost to her. Upon returning to Greenville, she began paying monthly rent of $1,195 and continued paying this amount until she transferred to Jacksonville, FL in approximately April 2015. Her average monthly utility bill in Greenville was $81 in 2014 (October-December) and $191 in 2015 (January-March).<sup>16</sup>
9. Mrs. Taylor benefitted from the Foreign Earned Income Tax Exclusion through 2014. The gross exclusion amounts in 2015-2018 were $100,800, $101,300, $102,100, and $104,100.

The 2019 gross exclusion amount is $105,900.<sup>17</sup> In 2014 her exclusion was 91.5% of the gross exclusion amount.<sup>18</sup> This is based on the proportion of days when she was in the United States.

10. The Social Security Administration publishes annual rates of inflation at 0.86% for 2016, 2.76% for 2017, and 2.65% for 2018. It projects inflation rates of 1.80% for 2019 and 2.60% for years thereafter.<sup>19</sup>

Assumptions

In completing this preliminary analysis I have made the following assumptions.

1. If given the opportunity, Mrs. Taylor would have continued working in Afghanistan through June 2021.
2. If she had remained in Afghanistan, her hourly compensation rate would have increased at inflationary rates of 0.86% in 2016 to $42.70, 2.76% in 2017 to $43.88, and 2.65% in 2018 to $45.04, 1.80% in 2019 to $45.85, 2.60% in 2020 to $47.04, and 2.6% in 2021 to $48.26.<sup>20</sup>
3. She would have elected to use four home leave/R&R periods each year through 2016, three such periods in 2017 - 2020, and one such period during the first six months of 2021. For these periods she would have been paid for 40 hours weekly with no overtime or salary uplift.
4. In her present position, her compensation will increase from 2020 to 2021 with inflation at 2.60%.
5. The gross foreign income tax exclusion will increase with inflation at 2.6% in 2020.
6. The additional rent expense incurred by Mrs. Taylor would have continued at $1,195 monthly in 2015 and would have increased with inflation in subsequent years. Utilities expense would have remained at $191 monthly in 2015 and would have increased with inflation in subsequent years.
7. The appropriate estimate of food cost savings is the average monthly expenditure for food eaten at home in single-person households. This was $335 monthly (2015 dollars) in

<sup>20</sup> If actual and projected inflation rates are not applied to earnings and additional costs of room and board, the total computed pecuniary loss to Mrs. Taylor is $1,430,669.

2015.<sup>21</sup> This element of damage is adjusted to reflect those periods when Mrs. Taylor would have exercised home leave/R&R.

8. The resolution date of the matter is estimated at February 18, 2020.
9. Losses after February 18, 2020 are reduced to present value using yields on U. S. Treasury issues maturing in the middle of years 2020 and 2021.

Methodology

Earnings

Exhibits 2-9 show period computations of gross lost earnings. For each period I have computed gross earnings in Afghanistan to include base pay, overtime pay (without overtime premium), salary uplift, and retention allowances. I have included only base pay for periods of home leave/R&R. Also for each period I have computed base pay in the United States based on adjusted salary levels, which are higher than the salary levels projected for Afghanistan work.

Foreign Earned Income Tax Exclusion – Mrs. Taylor benefited from the Foreign Earned Income Tax Exclusion, including year 2014. The effect of this exclusion is to increase disposable income. The increased disposable income due to the exclusion is in addition to the additional gross income that she earned by working in Afghanistan instead of the United States. Exhibit 10 shows computations of the lost tax exclusion benefits.

Rent, Utilities, Food Costs

Exhibit 11 shows rent and utilities costs based on the incurred expenses in Greenville, SC. In the spring of 2015 Mrs. Taylor transferred to Jacksonville, FL., where these expenses are higher. However, I have used the Greenville based costs because, if she had remained in Afghanistan, these represent her room and board cost savings.

Exhibit 12 shows the additional costs of food incurred by Mrs. Taylor as a result of the transfer back to the United States. The costs exclude periods when she would have been on home leave/R&R.

Mrs. Taylor's expenditures for these items are in after-tax dollars. This element of loss to her is appropriately expressed in before-tax dollars. The equivalent before-tax dollar costs of these items are shown in Exhibits 11 and 12.

Income Tax Effect of One-time Award

If Mrs. Taylor had continued working in Afghanistan, her current federal marginal income tax bracket would have been 30%. If she receives a lump sum award compensating her for the loss, her marginal bracket will be 43%. Therefore an award of the computed damages which excludes recognition of this additional tax effect will not place her in the same position that she would have been in without the transfer back to the US. The additional payment which is necessary to place her in the same position, shown in Exhibit 1, is $199,099.

Reservation to Amend or Update

The appropriate computation of the pecuniary loss to Mrs. Taylor may change with the passage of time and/or the availability of additional information. I respectfully reserve the right to amend or update my report if it becomes appropriate to do so.

Qualifications and Fees

My résumé and a summary of my testimony since 2014 are enclosed. Charges for work by my firm in this case are at standard hourly rates, currently $480 for my time and $125 for that of my Assistant.
